A SPECIAL TERM OF McLEAN COURT

Opened Monday in Extraordinary Session

TO TRY ALLEGED MOB LEADERS

Eighteen Men Now Under Indictment—Speedy Trial Will be Had.

NEGRO MOBBED LAST APRIL

The McLean Circuit Court was convened in an extraordinary session at Calhoun Monday morning at 9 o'clock by Circuit Judge Thomas F. Birkhead, for the purpose of hearing the trials of the alleged mob members, who shot and killed William Potter, a negro, at Livermore, early in April last. The purpose of the court in holding the extraordinary session is to give the alleged members of the mob a speedy trial, and the Commonwealth will insist upon entering into trial in as many of the cases as possible during the present week.

Three alleged leaders, Lawrence Mitchell, a brother of the young man shot and injured by the negro Potter, who was mobbed, and Clifford and Jease Schreeter, are charged in the indictments returned against them with murder, while the other alleged members of the mob, Ellis Thornsherry, W. N. Davis, Cecil Jake, Ira Coghill, John Fielden, John W. Taylor, Sam Colburn, William H. Coghill, Tom Dabner, George Gephart, Robert Hayes, Leslie Wright, Edward Ilaney, Clarence Roberts and Ellis Burton, are indicted under a blanket indictment, charging them with aiding the three alleged leaders and with being accessories before the fact.

The Commonwealth, which will be represented by Commonwealth's Attorney Ben D. Ringo and County Attorney R. W. Alexander, will seek to have their best case presented to the court first. There is no doubt, however, but that it will be an utter impossibility for the court to try all the cases, as a special term of the Daviess Circuit Court is to be convened by Judge Birkhead next Monday morning. Each trial will no doubt, require a couple of days to be heard, as there will be from twenty-five to fifty witnesses to be heard in each of the cases.

In the case of Clifton Shroeter, one of the defendants, the Commonwealth's Attorney will move to have the indictment filed away, as Shroeter, since having executed bond and released from the McLean county jail, has been entangled in the nets of the federal laws, and is now confined in the Daviess county jail, charged with counterfeiting.

MEN KILLED BY SONS FOLLOWING A QUARREL

Williamsburg, Ky., Aug. 18.—William Ross and Marlon Strunk in the western part of the county. Ross and Strunk, who were old men, became involved in a quarrel, when the sons of each came up. Strunk's son shot Ross and Ross' son shot the elder Strunk. Young Strunk shot and seriously wounded Ross, who is in the hospital at Somerac. The younger Strunk escaped with only a flesh wound and has not been captured.

REFUSED PERMISSION TO MARRY KENTUCKY GIRL

Portland, Ore., Aug. 18.—A December and May romance, springing from a matrimonial want advertisement, was ended here when the municipal department of public safety for girls refused to permit William G. Delaney, a middle-aged blacksmith, to marry Vera Clark, a pretty 16-year-old girl, of Paducah, Ky., who came to Portland on Delaney's solicitation a month ago.

The girl saw Delaney's advertisement in a Kentucky paper and she answered it. Delaney wooed her by mail, she accepted him, coming to Oregon on the $57 which he sent her.

The authorities affirm that Delaney is in no position to support a wife. Delaney demands that the girl repay the $57. She being with the Government. This was only out funds, has secured a position exceeded by New York and Illinois.

HARTFORD, KY., WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 23, 1911.

intending to earn money with which to repay him. Her only living relative is a grandmother in Paducah. More than one hundred Oregon men have sent written proposals to the girl.

TWO NEW STARS ADDED TO THE NATION'S FLAG

Washington, Aug. 19.—Statehood for Arizona and New Mexico now only awaits the perfunctory approval of President Taft. The Flood-Smith resolution admitting these territories into the Union with the judiciary recall feature of the Arizona Constitution eliminated to meet the objection which caused President Taft to veto the original Statehood bill was passed by the House to-day without the formality of a roll-call. Having been passed by the Senate in the identical language, the resolution will go to the White House as soon as the Vice President and Speaker formally attach their signatures to the measure. No attempt was made in the House to pass over the President's veto the original bill which contained the judicial recall provision.

CENTRAL GROVE.

Aug. 21.—Rev. H. P. Brown filled his regular appointment here Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. W. I. Iglesias and Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Hunter, of this place, attended the Ohio County Baptist Association at Cane Run last week.

Little Miss Susie Belle Carson has returned to her home at Owenton after a visit to her aunt, Mrs. J. W. Rose, of this place, and grandmother, Mrs. Elvira Miller, of Goshen.

Mr. and Mrs. Alney Tichenor, of this place, visited Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Loney, of Owenton, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Rowe, of Equality, visited their son, Mr. Noah Rowe, here Saturday night and Sunday.

Miss Mary Hazelrigg, of Beaver Dam, who is teaching school at Elmwood, was the guest of Miss Violet Loney, near here, one night last week.

School at this place is being taught again by Mr. J. C. Jackson, of Centertown.

Misses Ruth Tichenor and Myrtle Park, of this place, are visiting Misses Gall Tichenor and Cora Welsh, of Pleasant Ridge.

Mr. Robert Ross, of Pond Run, attended church at this place Sunday. He dined with Mr. M. F. Faught and also visited his aunt, Mrs. G. H. Ashby, Sunday night.

Mr. J. E. Goff, Misses Madie and Georgia Goff, of this place, attended the fair at Leitchfield last week.

Mr. J. T. Hocker and family visited at Mr. J. A. Caldwell's, of Goshen, Sunday.

"Our days are gliding swiftly by." Since our last letter we have again been made to realize that life is uncertain and death is sure. Mrs. Sallie Tichenor, wife of Mr. J. B. Tichenor, died at her home here August 4.

Mrs. Charles Sturgeon, formerly of this county, died at her home in Evansville last Saturday. The remains will be taken to Beech Grove, McLean county, where the interment will take place to-morrow. Mrs. Sturgeon visited her cousin, Mrs. M. F. Faught, of this place, in July. While here she was taken ill and returned home, but gradually grew worse until the end came. Little did we think that her life was so near its close.

HOPEWELL.

Aug. 21.—Mr. Joe Brown has sold his crop to Mr. Fox Brown and is thinking of selling his farm and moving to Texas.

Miss Mittie Miles, who was sick last week, is improving.

Miss Polly Coleman is visiting relatives and friends in Rochester.

Messrs. John Coleman and Albert Taylor spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Bennett, across the river from Ceralvo.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Shull, Mr. and Mrs. Albin Shull and Miss Lovel went to Taylortown last Sunday to preaching.

Miss Margaret Taylor spent last Saturday night with Misses Marlan and Margaret Williamson at Wysox.

Mr. Porter Hunley sold to Mr. Chester Rowe, of Centertown, a young horse for $175, last week.

Kentucky was the third State in the list for internal revenue collections during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1911. Kentucky contributed $33,255,173.98 to the up-keep of the Government. This was only exceeded by New York and Illinois.

MIMIC HANGING BRINGS DEATH TO LITTLE BOY

Was at Play With Younger Brother When the Tragic End Came.

The Louisville Herald of Sunday says:

"Here I go, brother, watch me," was the playful shout of fourteen-year-old Hyron Ford to his nine-year-old brother as he clung to the highest perch in his father's barn, four miles out on the Preston-street road, tied a rope around his neck and looped it over a rafter. The smaller brother clapped his hands in glee at the supposed mimic hanging.

An instant later the lad's clutch upon the support slipped, he grasped wildly to check his fall and swung to instant death at the end of a twelve-foot rope.

Crying out in terror, the younger brother went to the house, where he frantically told the mother of the accident. Together the two ran back to the barn to find the body swinging far above their heads. Not until the father was reached and came to aid, was the body lifted down after the fatal plunge. The boy's neck was broken.

The accident occurred only a short distance from the house. Byron and his younger brother had been playing in the barn nearly all the afternoon. Mrs. Ford was about to call the two children to supper when the smaller brother came rushing in almost unable to talk. He finally communicated the cause of his fright to his mother and she, unable to believe the story rushed to the barn half expecting to find the tale an ill-gauged prank.

Mrs. Ford was prostrated when the realization of the tragedy broke upon her. Mr. Ford is an agent of the Bowling Green Nursery and was at work some distance from the house when the accident occurred. County Patrolman Hovekamp and Constable Frank Fisher were called and aided in moving the boy's body to the house.

Besides his father and mother he is survived by two sisters and his brother.

A KENTUCKY CASHIER ARRESTED IN MICHIGAN

Detroit Mich., Aug. 19.—John C. Byland, formerly the cashier of the Richwood Deposit Bank, in Boone county, Ky., for whom the authorities in all parts of the country have been searching since the bank closed its doors a year ago, was arrested in Detroit last night by Sheriff B. H. Hume, of Boone county, and Deputies Steinheil and Golden.

Byland is charged with embezzling $18,000 of the bank's funds by means of forged checks and other methods. His son, Raymond, who, it is alleged, was his accomplice, was arrested some time ago in San Francisco, and is serving a five-year term in the State prison at Frankfort, Ky. Byland was cashier of the bank and his son assistant cashier. Both men, Sheriff Hume says, had the full confidence of the directors of the bank and the community in which they lived. For several terms the elder Byland was a representative in the State Legislature. The Sheriff will take Byland back to Richwood to-day for trial.

MORGAN MEN FINISH REUNION AND DEPART

Carlisle, Ky., Aug. 18.—Parks Hill, this county, which for several days has been the scene of a happy reunion of Morgan's men, is deserted to-day. All of the old soldiers have gone to their homes. Gen. W. B. Duke, Col. E. Polk Johnson, Col. G. R. Keller and others left yesterday.

The meeting closed to meet again October 18 in Lexington for the dedication of the Morgan monument. It was decided to hold the tenth annual reunion at Parks Hill next August.

Succumbs to Pellagra.

Middlesboro, Ky., Aug. 19.—J. T. McLane, fifty years old, died here to-day of what physicians claim was a well-defined case of pellagra. McLane had been suffering for over a year with the disease. There are three other light cases of pellagra in Middlesboro, but physicians say they have them under control.

TO OPEN CAMPAIGN AT BOWLING GREEN

On September 4, When Mr. McCreary Will Make His Initial Speech.

The first shot in the campaign to elect James B. McCreary, Democratic nominee for Governor, to the highest office in the State will be fired by Mr. McCreary at Bowling Green, September 4.

At the headquarters of the committee R. H. Vansant, chairman, announced the appointment of an Executive Committee, composed of men prominent in Democratic circles throughout Kentucky, who will co-operate with the regular Committee in an advisory capacity in outlining plans for the campaign. This committee is made up as follows:

R. H. Vansant, J. A. Sullivan, John C. C. Mayo, A. W. Young, J. N. Camden, Jr., P. H. Callahan, Dr. A. Gatlin, W. C. Montgomery.

The personnel of the regular Campaign Committee follows:

R. H. Vansant, chairman.

J. A. Sullivan, vice chairman.

J. N. Camden, Jr., treasurer.

R. G. Phillips, secretary.

First District—Deany P. Smith.

Second District—C. E. Sugg.

Third District—J. R. Mallory.

Fourth District—W. C. Montgomery.

Fifth District—John B. Castileman.

Sixth District—S. D. Rouse.

Seventh District—J. N. Camden, Jr.

Eighth District—J. A. Sullivan.

Ninth District—T. D. Slattery.

Tenth District—John C. C. Mayo.

Eleventh District—Virgil P. Smith.

In the course of the next week or so the work of the headquarters force in Louisville will be fully under way. Campaign literature will be mailed broadcast. A special campaign book will be ready for distribution by September 1. The preparation of the book is now engaging the attention of the committee, the members of which predict that the coming campaign will be the most memorable in the history of the State.

POPULAR YOUNG TEACHER DIES OF TYPHOID FEVER

Miss Lula Jenkins, one of the best known teachers of the Green river section, died of a complication of malarial and typhoid fever, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Jenkins, of Pottsville, at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon. She had been ill for seven weeks, and death came not unexpected.

The deceased was twenty-two years and four months of age, and had been a teacher in the Pottsville school for several years. She was a devoted member of the Pottsville Baptist church, and is survived by her parents, two brothers and a sister.

A "TOSS-UP" DECIDES A LONG-FOUGHT LAWSUIT

Barbourville, Ky., Aug. 17.—Harve Hatton and William Napier, two citizens of this county, disagreed over the ownership of a yoke of oxen, and two trials resulting in hung juries, they decided to toss up "wet or dry" to reach an agreement, the cost of the two suits having already amounted to more than the oxen were worth.

A small board was procured and a considerable quantity of tobacco juice placed on one side thereof. The board was thrown into the air, and when the dust was cleared away Hatton was found to be the owner of the oxen. Both parties went away satisfied.

MISS DYER DECLINES TO SEE REPORTERS

The Owensboro Messenger of Sunday says:

Miss Clara A. Dyer, the former school teacher of the Philpot vicinity who caused an international sensation at Indianapolis, Ind., several days ago by preferring charges against Private George Petrie, charging that he was an Australian spy, arrived in Owensboro yesterday on the noon "Texas" train, and registered at the Rudd house.

Later in the day she went to the home of her brother-in-law, Dr. Harris, at Philpot, where she will spend several weeks as the guests of her sister.

Upon arriving at the hotel yesterday, Miss Dyer secured a room and refused to be seen by newspaper men, politely sending them an answer to their cards that she was not disposed to be interviewed upon the subject, which has, no doubt, caused her an unlimited amount of embarrassment by the publicity it has given her.

It is known that Miss Dyer was watched upon every hand by newspaper men in Indianapolis, and during the past few days has been refusing them audience.

Deaths in Breckinridge.
Cloverport, Ky., Aug. 18.—Mrs. Mary Dehaven, a prominent resident of this county, died this morning of heart trouble after an illness of several months. She is survived by four children—Mamie, Carl and Ello Dehaven, of Cloverport, and Mr. Fred Dehaven, of Danville.

Charles Farmer, a well-to-do farmer, died yesterday of the infirmities of age. He leaves one daughter, Annie, and a stepdaughter, Mrs. Letitia Chapin.

OLATON.

Aug. 21.—Mr. Leslie Combs and wife, of Dukehurst, attended the Association at Cane Run last Wednesday and Thursday and were also the guests of Mr. T. W. Daniel's family, of this place, Wednesday night.

Mrs. J. A. Daniel and three children, of Hartf ord, who had been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Daniel and other relatives at this place, for the past few days, went to Owensboro last Saturday morning, where they will be the guests of her brother, Mr. Crowe Acton, and other relatives.

Mr. Charles Bruner, wife and daughter and Miss Maria Dugan, Messrs. R. L. Arms and Abram Monroe, Olaton, attended the Grayson County Fair a few days last week.

It's very dry and hot in this section of country. Crops are perishing for rain.

Messrs. C. B. Lyons, of this place, and Lon Whitley, of near Yamden, attended the base ball game at Hartf ord last Saturday.

Miss Gertrude Felix and Mr. W. B. McDaniel, who have had typhoid fever, are able to be out again.

Mr. J. A. Daniel, of Hartf ord, was the guest of Mr. C. B. Lyons last Saturday night and went to Owensboro Sunday morning.

Rev. Birch Shields, of Beaver Dam, will fill his regular appointment at Olaton Baptist Church next Thursday night and also Friday night.

Strong Democratic Platform is Adopted.

The following is the Platform adopted by the Democratic State Convention in session in Louisville last week:

On National Issues.

Section 1.—We, the Democrats of Kentucky, in delegate convention duly assembled and held in the city of Louisville, Kentucky, on August 12, 1911, do hereby pledge anew our faith in and devotion to the time-honored and eternal principles of our party—first promulgated in the Declaration of Independence and since reaffirmed in successive platforms of the party—and we especially reaffirm our faith in and devotion to the national Democratic platform adopted at Denver, Colorado, in the year 1908.

Section 2.—We denounce the Republican party and the present Republican President, for their傲慢 and willful betrayal of the trust reposed in them by the American people and call attention especially to the fact that they have willfully disregarded their previous promises to the effect that they would never goad the unjust tariff system and would relieve the masses of the people of the heavy burdens of unjust and discriminatory taxation.

On the contrary the Republicans enacted the odious Payne-Aldrich tariff law of 1909, pronounced by Mr. Taft to be "the best Republican tariff law ever passed," which law was a gross breach of the promises of the Republican President and his political party. This tariff law, in order to enrich the few, increased the burdens of the many and authorized those favored few not only to continue, but to increase, their robbery of the many—under the form of tax.

Section 3.—We point with pride, and heartily endorse the patriotic record made by the present Democratic members of Congress and Democratic Senators, in their efforts over determined Republican opposition to, in good faith, redeem the promises of the Democratic party to repeal unjust and oppressive Republican laws, and to enact wise and just laws for the benefit of the great masses of the people, and we invite all to contrast the aims and record of the Democrats in the House and Senate of the present session of Congress with the aims and record of the Republicans and especially with the Republican session of 1909 which enacted the Payne-Aldrich tariff law.

We especially endorse the record of our Democratic Congressman and Senator from Kentucky for their fidelity in keeping the promises of their party and representing the people and not the interests, and we denounce the record of the Republican Congressman and Senator from Kentucky, because they have represented not the people, nor have they sought to relieve their burdens, but have represented the privileged, protected interests of the country.

On State Issues.

Section 4.—Kentucky is, and of right ought to be, a Democratic State, and the Democratic party in appealing for the support of the electorate of the State, eagerly invites an intelligent comparison of the records it has made with those made by its political adversary during the temporary occupation it has controlled the affairs of the State.

As against the Republican record in Kentucky of assassination, bloodshed and disregard of law, we present the Democratic picture of peace, scrupulous regard for human life and a strict observance of, and respect for law; as against an empty treasury and rejection and shoving of honest demands against the State, we present a picture of a magnificent State Capitol erected and paid for without any extra tax, and every just claim against the State promptly met and paid in full; as against platform pledges and promises broken and made to be broken, we present a record of all pledges and promises faithfully kept; as against hypocrisy, demagogic and incompetency we present a record of sincerity, fidelity, competency and statesmanship.

We denounce the action of the Republican Governor for his partisan and unjust action in pardoning the men indicted for participation in the assassination of William Goebel, the Governor of our State, and we assert that those pardons were granted for political reasons, and not upon the merits of the cases.

We charge the Republican party both in the State and in the nation with gross extravagance and willful waste in the expenditure of the people's money, and we pledge ourselves to retrenchment and reform, and to an economical business administration of public affairs.

Section 5.—We are in favor of a direct primary election law, providing that all primary elections shall be conducted under lawful authority and at public expense, and to be regulated in the same manner and subject to the same penalties for violations, as in case of regular elections.

Section 6.—We favor the enactment of such an explicit and effective corrupt practice act, which shall determine what campaign expenses shall be legitimate, and which shall provide for the compulsory publication in detail, under heavy penalties, of the campaign expenses of every candidate for public office.

Section 7.—We favor the enactment of such additional laws as will make our entire common school system more efficient and more practical.

We pledge our support to our school system and the educational institutions of the State, wisely and economically administered. Money appropriated for the education of the people is an investment and not an expense. School trustees, school boards and all school officials should be held rigidly responsible for adequate returns on every dollar so invested. We charge the Republican party with neglect of and indifference toward our school system.

Recognizing that a large majority of the teachers of our common schools are women and that women are now eligible to be elected school trustees, county school superintendents and to hold office, and are frequently so elected, we favor the extension to women of suffrage in all school elections, subject to such wise regulations as to qualifications as the General Assembly may determine.

Section 8.—We favor such laws as will, under appropriate penalties, destroy all corrupt lobbying seeking to influence any legislative body in the Commonwealth on the subject of legislation or the election of officers by it, or in any other matter; but we recognize the constitutional right of the people to petition and to be impartially heard on all questions.

Section 9.—We favor, under wise and proper restrictions, the creation of a State Utilities Commission, having ample powers to discharge its duties.

Section 10.—We favor a change in the present method of selecting the Prison Commissioners of the State, and the removal of all pollution from the management of our penal institutions.

While commanding the present Board of Prison Commissioners for its successful management of the institutions under its care, we recognize that the system of election by the Legislature, under which they are elected, is unwise, and we therefore favor such a change as will place their appointments in the hands of the Governor, subject to confirmation by the Senate, or some other method such as the General Assembly may provide.

Section 11.—We favor a law requiring that a uniform system of accounting be installed and conducted in all public offices charged with the collection and disbursement of public moneys.

Section 12.—We favor the General Assembly submitting to a vote of the people whether or not they desire to adopt an amendment to our State Constitution broadening the powers of the General Assembly, so that it may classify property for the purposes of taxation; but we are opposed to any law the effect of which would be to lighten the burdens of taxation on the wealthy and on corporations at the expense of the farmer or the laboring man.

Section 13.—Temperance is essentially a moral, non-political and social question and should not be made a partisan issue between political parties.

We favor the extension of the present local option law, as applied to the sale of liquors, which has been upheld by our highest court as valid and constitutional, so that the citizens of each and every county in the State may determine for themselves whether spirituous, vinous or malt liquors may be sold therein.

Section 14.—We favor organization and co-operation among the farmers and laborers of the State, and the enactment of such constitutional laws as will protect them from the greed and oppression of the trusts and monopolies of the country, which are the direct fruit of Republican legislation.

Section 15.—We favor such wise and conservative laws as will encourage road and bridge building in Kentucky, and we favor reasonable State aid for the construction of roads and bridges, but only on condition that each county or local community which is primarily benefited shall first do its part and discharge its duty to itself in this regard.

Section 16.—We favor the creation, removed from politics, of a Department of Banking, providing for competent inspection of all our State financial institutions, and similar to the system now existing for national banks.

Section 17.—We favor the enactment of such wine laws as will put into effect all sections and provisions of the State Constitution, and we declare that we are in favor of the enforcement of all laws.

Section 18.—We favor the enactment of wine laws for the protection from accident and injury of all laborers engaged in hazardous employments, and we favor a wise, conservative law regulating the arbitration of labor strikes and disputes.

Section 19.—We favor a law prohibiting peonage and female slave traffic, regardless of color.

Section 20.—We are opposed to all mobs and lynchings and are in favor of the severest penalty possible, under our Constitution, on all officers who fail to protect prisoners intrusted to their keeping.

Section 21.—The Democratic party has always been a party of religious, as well as civil liberty, in Kentucky and the republic. It refers with pride to its noble and consistent record on this important question, so "dear to every true American heart." We are in full accord, both in letter and in spirit, with the teachings of Thomas Jefferson, the founder of our party, on this question, and with the provisions of our State and Federal Constitutions, and we are unalterably opposed to raising any religious test as a qualification for holding any office in the State or nation.

Section 22.—We favor the nomination and election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people.

Section 23.—We denounce and are opposed to Cannonism or one-man power in all representative assemblies, whether it be in Congress or in representative conventions. We favor the "rule of the people."

Section 24.—On this platform of principles and on the aims and purposes of our party in the State and in the Nation, we appeal to all Kentuckians, irrespective of previous political affiliations, who are proud of the past and desire a still more prosperous, more progressive present and future, for all our people, to support our magnificent State ticket, including our nominee for the United States Senatorship, and our nominees for General Assembly and for other offices.

Conclusion.

Section 25.—In conclusion we call the attention of Kentuckians to the fact that Democratic principles are triumphant in the Nation and in almost every State, and that the Republican party everywhere is professing to adopt Democratic principles in its platform, but we warn them that the Republicans of this State have placed in their platform some progressive Democratic doctrines, not with a view to carrying them out or to attempt to carry them out in good faith, in the improbable event of their success at the polls next November, but only for the present purpose of catching votes and deceiving the people, so that they might get the offices and emoluments thereof. The broken promises of the present Republican State and National Administrations as well as the entire history of the Republican party, are sufficient to convince all fair-minded citizens of the insincerity of the Republican party, and that it is not the party of the people; while, on the other hand, the record and history of the Democratic party in the Nation and the State conclusively establish its devotion to duty and its purpose in good faith to redeem all platform pledges made to the people.

The Rejected Plank.

Minority report, substituted for Section 13 of majority report, and defeated by a vote of 667 to 514:

The Democratic party of Kentucky is, and has always been, a party of moderation and temperance. Every existing statute in restriction of the sale and use of intoxicants was enacted by a Democratic Legislature and approved by a Democratic Governor. Unalterably opposed to the principle of paternalism, and pledging the party to the rigorous enforcement of the laws, the Democrats of Kentucky renew their allegiance to the time-honored principle of self-government and home-rule embodied by the local-option clause of the State Constitution and denounce the double-dealing and hypocrisy of the Republicans effort to drag into party politics a social, moral and religious question having no proper place therefor.

JAMES M. O'BRIEN.

Never His Luck.

"Aha!" And he laughed fiendishly as he read from the morning paper: "The burglar shot at the man, whose life was saved by the bullet striking against a button of his clothes!"

"Well," snapped his wife, "what of that?"

"What of that?" he said, as he felt his collar going up steadily to the nape of his neck. "O, nothing except that the button must have been on!"

KISMET.

Thirty-five or forty years ago it was the finest swimming hole in the country. Just where the creek took a sharp turn the roots of an old sycamore prevented the water from cutting into the bank, and the resulting swirl excavated a deep hole. It was a famous swimming place. A gnarled root of the old tree jutted out over the water, and from it you took many a dive. My! but wasn't it fun in the old days to hike off to the creek with a bunch of cronies and swim and splash and dive in the cool water?

Well, a year or so ago you went back to the old home, and one evening you sneaked off and went down to the old swimming hole, intending to take another plunge in the creek. Just for old time's sake. But you didn't. Instead of a broad creek you found a piddling little stream that runs about enough water to keep a minnow from dying from thirst. The old sycamore had disappeared, and the old swimming hole wasn't deep enough for a hog wallow.

All you could do was to stand there and let memory do its work. And after indulging in reverie for a few minutes you wiped a tear from your eye and sneaked back to town again. Maybe it is because you are not hunting for them now, but somehow or other there don't seem to be any more swimming holes like the swimming holes of thirty-five or forty years ago. Scientists tell that the appendix veriformis is merely the remains of a bodily organ that used to be worth while, but which has degenerated into nuisance because of neglect. Maybe it's the same way with swimming holes. With bath houses and bath rooms and plunges and all that sort of a thing to be found in nearly every town it would seem that the swimming holes have evolved backwards, just like the appendix veriformis.

Cuts and bruises may be healed in about one-third of the time required by the usual treatment by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. It is an antiseptic and causes such injuries to heal without maturation. This liniment also relieves soreness of the muscles and rheumatic pains. For sale by all dealers.

Johnny—He was whaled.

A well known Des Moines woman, after suffering miserably for two days from bowel complaint, was cured by one dose of Chamberlain's Liniment, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For sale by all dealers.

POLITENESS OVERWORKED

A man there whose fortune lies in saying, "I apologize!"

He feels with all the world at ease.

When he exclaims, "Excuse me, please!"

His manner mild and confident,

Bida every angry mood relent,

And all your harsh resentments fit

As you reply "Don't mention it."

And so his willful way he goes.

He steps upon your tenderest toes;

He elbows you and hurts your pride

As patiently you stand aside

And let him grab the dairy lunch

Or battle through the baseball bunch sought the front seat at the game

Which now serenely he will claim.

He's here, he's there, he's ovary-where;

And yet to chide him who would dare?

He has a saving grace immense

Of mingled nerve and innocence

That lets him bully us at ease,

If he but says, "Excuse me, please."

RECORD SHOWS

A DIFFERENCE

Between the "Advance" and the "Actual"

IN JUDGE O'REAR'S "OPENER"

At Elizabethtown—Says 70,000 Kentucky Voters Are Purchasable.

"EXPLANATION" WAS OMITTED

Elizabethtown, Ky., Aug. 17.—The opening speech sent out in advance to the newspapers by Judge E. C. O'Rear, and the one he actually made here in launching his campaign for Governor on the Republican ticket, differ materially, as shown by a comparison of the advance speech and the stenographic report.

In his speech prepared in advance, copies of which were sent to the newspapers two days before delivery, Judge O'Rear offered the following explanation of the moves which resulted in the election of W. O. Bradley as United States Senator:

"After some weeks of futile bickering, Mr. Bradley says he notified the insurgents (the anti-Beckham Democrats) that unless they voted for him the next day, he would resign his caucus nomination, thereby absolving the Republican members from further supporting him, in which event he (Bradley) predicted enough Republicans would vote for Mr. Beckham to elect him, in spite of the insurgent Democrats. Under this threat four of the seven insurgents voted for Mr. Bradley the next day and he was thereby elected."

In the speech he actually delivered at Elizabethtown Judge O'Rear failed to touch this phase of the Bradley election in the same way. Following are the words he actually delivered:

"If these people who want to cast suspicion upon Senator Bradley and convict him by innuendo, have any evidence, let them produce it, put up or shut up. I want to go one step further, and make this statement with premeditated deliberation. If you have evidence that Senator Bradley bribed one vote or that the liquor interests bribed one vote for him, I declare that his title is tainted."

The following remarkable paragraphs of his actual speech were omitted from the advance speech furnished the newspapers:

"I don't know much about Hardin county, but I would not be surprised if in Hardin county there are six or seven hundred men who habitually sell their votes every election, if there is anybody to buy them. Take them over Kentucky, and there are more than 70,000 men who sell their suffrage in the market.

A distinguished politician of my faith said to me on the eve of the Republican convention which met a few days after the county convention: 'If you do not make a certain compromise on a question before the people of Kentucky today, you cannot have any campaign fund, and if you do take that position you will.' Then he said: 'You are a crazy man, and the very gates of hell will be opened against you in November.' I said: 'Why, they were opened last Saturday.'

Judge O'Rear also radically changed his statement regarding his language on the county unit proposition.

THE TRUE SPIRIT OF DEMOCRACY

As Exemplified in Its Inherent Teachings.

DIFFERENCE IN PARTY SPIRIT

Which Separates the Leading Forces and Gives Distinction to Each.

WHAT EACH SIDE STANDS FOR

"EVERY MAN HIS OWN TEMPERANCE SOCIETY."

This is the spirit of Democracy that develops character, individualism, manhood, as nothing else can.

In its generally accepted, broad and comprehensive meaning, the spirit of Prohibition is inherently antagonistic to that of Democracy; hence, although it may seem a little harsh, Watterson is right when he declares that "No Prohibitionist can be a Democrat." But in truth and justice, Prohibition does not mean to a Democrat all it means to a Republican. There's a difference in both spirit and design that the word does not determine. To a Democrat it is confined strictly to the liquor curse which he regards as an exceptional evil, so out of the ordinary and so grave in its character that extraordinary treatment is demanded, and, because it comes nearest to Local Self Government—that ideal state, every man his own morality society—a Democrat naturally turns not only loyalty to the constitutional provision but to the smallest subdivision which he calls Local Option, to distinguish it from Prohibition, which is an "ism" that sprung from New England, the hot-bed of all "isms." To a Republican it means the whole theory of a paternalized and centralized government. The former, trusting to the good sense, sound judgment and moral stamina of the individual to maintain moral standards, while the latter relies upon the strong arm of the law, the temptation and fears of rewards and penalties, to accomplish all good, believing that the individual is but clay in the hands of the legislative potter who can make of him just any kind of a pot he wants to; all of which, at once, leads to the doctrine that the good should rule and they are the good; the earth belongs to the saints and they are the saints.

Emerson, who, it is believed by some, has said all that is worth saying or will be worth saying for two hundred years, declared that "Republics abound in young civilians who believe laws make cities, that commerce, education, religion and morals can be voted in and out." No Democrat could possibly subscribe to such doctrine any more than he could believe sumptuary laws can reform a sinner; for he knows all reforms must begin within the human heart, a vital spot that nothing but moral salvation and its own leaven can ever reach.

The utmost power of the State is to restrain; it can neither convert nor reform. We have delegated to it the authority to concern itself about whatever we may do that invades the rights of another, but any attempt to meddle with what we believe or do within our own right, would be an encroachment so intolerable that it would justify revolution.

So we see the difference is so great, far-reaching and fundamental that no Democrat should be confused or misled by the sophistry of mere office-seekers whose success depends upon injecting a moral question, which has no place in politics, into the campaign, thus not only diverting the public mind from their public record which concerns every taxpayer in the State, but so excites the zealous temperance advocate that he loses sight of his party principles and goes off chasing a delusion, leaving his State to suffer the consequences.

Why try to make an issue of Temperance? Isn't everybody for it? Or, if they are not, are the Republicans more competent to deal with the problem than the Democrats? Have they proved this? What have they ever done in Kentucky for the cause of Temperance or any other cause? Did they prove their willingness and ability in that flagrant betrayal of an overwhelming temperance sentiment when they made that notorious deal with a whiskey ring, bartering the County Unit Bill, sacrificing the cause of Temperance with all its hopes, to elect a U. S. Senator? What good came of the sacrifice of the Democrat who abandoned his party with all its policies that so vitaly concerned every citizen? What good ever came of that motley and odorous coalition of preachers, Dick Knott, John Whalen and a lot of over-zealous Democrats of the city of Louisville, in that preposterous stunt of alleged reform? What, oh, what good ever came to the State from the thousands of Democratic votes cast for Wilson? Were not measures, principles, policies and sentiments for which they had fought all their lives, sacrificed and worse than wasted? Have we not tried Prince George drunk, and tried him sober and, drunk or sober, found nothing in him—but graft?

Without false issues and scuttlefish tactics, the chances of the Republicans would be hopeless. Their policy is to break the Democratic party into helpless factions, and they have shrewdly chosen the liquor question as the tool of cleavage. Can there be any respectable number of Democrats so easy? Surely they have had enough to make them at least mistrustful—kind o' like a coyote that has had his tail shot off.

A Democrat needs no stronger proof of the uses to which his vote for temperance is debased than the election of Bradley at the cost of the County Unit Bill, to which he and his party were so solemnly pledged. If he needs more, let him review O'Rear's decisions in the Court of Appeals with his Temperance plank in his party platform, not forgetting the proceedings of their recent State convention held in a hall over a brewery, and, as it further placate the whiskey contingent, now have as campaign chalmers a manufacturer of beer keg staves; especially the now famous O'Rear Brewery Hall speech in which he had the hardihood to brazenly declare that Bradley had been elected without stain, even in spite of a whiskey lobby. I wonder how long a party can escape the inevitable consequences of such double-deal duplicity. I wonder how much longer they can bamboozle the lot of Democrats who have the cause of Temperance at heart. Why, a child learns when it is burnt. The Chinese say that when a man wrongs you the first time, he is to blame, but the second time he wrongs you, you are to blame. It is a Bourbon who never learns.

May not the Democratic party be entrusted with the serious problems of Intemperance? How comes it that the Republican party is the only conservator of our morals? What have they ever done to earn such confidence? Or is it Blue Laws you seek? Have you witches you want burned? Or would you have, like Sancho Panza, an official doctor to stand at your table and with his wand point out and deny your palate of every tempting dish upon your table as unhealthy?

Left to the Democrats, the question would be eliminated from politics, as it should be, and referred, as provided by the Constitution, to local option, where it would secure more dry territory than under the proposed County Unit system. The County Unit is nothing but an insidious step toward Statewide Prohibition, and Statewide means that Louisville and all other cities of the State shall say whether whiskey shall be sold in Hartford or Ohio county. This is not Homo Rule, neither is it Democratic. If Hartford does not want whiskey sold, in the name of Local Self Government, why should the whiskey tubs and toughs of Louisville and Lexington be allowed to butt in?

Taking advantage of the nice points of divergence where the thin lines of distinction so finely mark the parting of the ways between Democracy and Republicanism, the latter seeks to confuse the unwary who are so earnestly enlisted in the cause of temperance, by assuming that all hope is centered in them, that they are the saints and that the Democratic party is the champion of whiskey and debauchery and no good can ever come out of Nazareth.

But, with all his experience and dexterity, can O'Rear, like the Duke of Leeds, double so cunningly that the people shall be unable to track him? I fancy not. Unless, within the next few weeks, he can live down his Brewery Hall speech, November will bring a fitting punishment for his duplicity and we shall then see only fragments and tatters of his beautiful Prohibition halo festooning his ears and ball-bearing law.

Remember the Democrats do not deny the evil consequences of drink. Nor are they deaf to the heart-rending appeals of its victims. But a man can be for temperance—even a teetotaler as I have been all my life—without being a Prohibitionist; because I know force can make but one kind of morality and that a very poor one, supported by fear of public sentiment and dread of penalties of the law, while it offers no hope to and often makes a scoundrel of him who has once offended.

The hope of temperance is local self government and home rule, where morality springs from a sense of right in the individual conscience.

The September Woman's Home Companion.

The September Woman's Home Companion is the advance fall fashion number of that periodical. It contains an immense amount of fashion news that will interest and be of practical service to women. Grace Margaret Gould, who conducts the fashion department of the Companion, does her work admirably; that is, her object seems to be—not to present fashions in a way that will influence women to waste money on clothes, but in a way to show the great mass of women how they may dress fashionably and yet at reasonable cost.

On the entertainment side the September Companion is an unusual number. Notable and lively fiction is contributed by Alice Brown, Anna Hamilton Donnell, Anna McClure Sholl, Mary Heaton Vorse, John D. Swain and others.

Eight special articles, full of new facts and ideas, are included. The titles of some of these are: "What Companion Readers Think About the Cost of Living," "The Boy and Some of His Opinions," "The Modern Woman's Paradise," "Housekeeping by Electricity," "Saving Steps in the Kitchen."

Fourteen special departments, and the great fashion, home decoration and household features, complete the number.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR.

Never put off till tomorrow the man who proposes to-day.

The social ladder is fast becoming the "golden stair."

No girl cares to be loved for beauties of the soul alone; but then, no girl need live in the harrowing fear that she ever will be. It's a wise woman who knows when to stop talking; but a wiser one who knows when not to commence.

No, Clarice, a man's idea of being loved isn't exactly being followed around with a hot water bottle, a box of pills and the eternal question: "Do you love me as much as ever?"

Shock-absorbers are being used on automobiles nowadays, probably, so that when an accident occurs people won't be so shocked to hear who were the occupants of the car.

Never argue with an angry man; nothing puts out the hot fire of his wrath so effectively as a wet blanket of dead silence.

Love your enemies if you want to; but heaven protect you from your friends.

UNITED STATES LEPROSY COLONY

Conducted by Monks Near New Orleans.

SUFFERERS MADE TO FORGET

Cases Are Incurable and the End Is But a Matter of Little Time.

SEVENTY DOOMED TO EXILE

All the lepers who belong to the United States do not live at Molokai, and there are other Father Daniels in the flesh to-day. Right in our own United States there is a leper colony. It is on the Mississippi river, sixty miles north of New Orleans. There dwell seventy poor souls who are doomed to die a slow, lingering death.

No escape is possible for them. They live in night solitary confinement, simply to wait for the end. Benedictine monks and nuns run the colony. Their lives are consecrated to the work, just as Father Damien's was in far away Hawaii. At their head is Father Keenan; assisting him is Sister Benedicta, one of the nuns who was driven from France when the government stepped in and took the convents.

She fled to this country and asked for some religious work to do. She was assigned at once to the leper colony, and there she is now helping the poor unfortunate to pass their weary days as easily as possible. It is her care to see that their tortured lives are made as pleasant as possible.

The colony has not been there long, but fifteen have already died, and there are as many more who will go soon. It is the work of the good priests and sisters to see that the doomed ones can forget. They arrange entertainments, make up croquet parties, take long walks and drives, and do anything to amuse the poor unfortunate who must stay there until they go to their graves.

Best of all is the leper choir. Those who have voices and a knowledge of music sing in the church regularly, and the practice they receive in singing is part of the plan to help them forget their doom.

The State pays $15,000 a year for the support of the home and the rest of the expense is met by the Benedictine order. It is little enough, as those who are closest to this great charity well know.

Only the other day there was a sad experience for Father Keenan. A man called to see his wife and son, both sufferers with leprosy. It was time for him to go.

"Can't you find just one spot of leprosy on my body somewhere?" he begged. "Then I could come here and live with my family. They are all I have in the world!"

But there was no spot or taint on him and he had to say goodbye.

KANSAS SOCIETY NOTE

SOMETHING "HAPPENED"

The guests at Mrs. Arthur Mize's tea detected an odor of something burning. They looked at each other knowingly and said: "Poor Mrs. Mize, something is burning up in the kitchen." But the odor grew stronger, and at last one woman said: "It smells as though feathers are burning." Then suddenly one woman screamed: "Mrs. Challiss, look at your hat!" Sure enough, Mrs. Jim Challiss had been standing near a lighted candle and the aligrette on her hat was on fire.

The guests had a great time putting out the fire. The aligrette was what the insurance men call a total loss. An Atchison woman who has gone to thousands of receptions says the burning of the aligrette is the first time she ever knew anything to really happen at a reception. She had given up going because nothing ever happened, but now she will start in over again.—[Atchison Globe.]

"Cardui Cured Me"

For nearly ten years, at different times, Mrs. Mary Jin's of Treadway, Tenn., suffered with womanly troubles. She says: "At last, I took down and thought I would die. I could not sleep. I couldn't eat. I had pains all over. The doctors gave me up. I read that Cardui had helped so many, and I began to take it, and it cured me. Cardui saved my life! Now, I can do anything."

TAKE CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

If you are weak, tired, worn-out, or suffer from any of the pains peculiar to weak women, such as headache, backache, dragging-down feelings, pains in arm, side, hip or limbs, and other symptoms of womanly trouble, you should try Cardui, the woman's tonic. Prepared from perfectly harmless, vegetable ingredients, Cardui is the best remedy for you to use, as it can do you nothing but good. It contains no dangerous drugs. It has no bad after-effects. Ask your druggist. He sells and recommends Cardui.

COUNTY—M. T. Westerfield.

A French scientist claims to have invented an apparatus with which he can photograph thought. It goes without saying it will be bitterly fought by all married men.

What is Ohio county going to do with the able candidate for Representative, Mr. M. T. Westerfield?
Why, elect him, of course. And let's get about this duty right at once.

A New York woman was arrested for beating her husband with a piano leg. Pity she should have gone to the trouble of unscrewing the leg when the family axe was no doubt lying loose just outside the back door.

Admiral Togo, the Japanese naval officer touring the United

According to the theory of Judge O'Rear, nobody should make charges unless they can be proven. The able Judge should set us an example by proving that there are seventy thousand men in Kentucky who annually sell their votes.

Judge O'Rear boldly asserts that seventy thousand Kentuckians annually sell their votes. Will the Judge kindly classify these con-scienceless citizens who bargain their suffrage? Who are they? To which party do they principally belong?

Marse Henri came out of that fierce scrap with "the boys" with his metaphors slightly disfigured, but still in the ring. In his editorial next day he landed nicely on old Democratic ground. We are prophesying that he won't "lump in the rear" long.

It looks like a strange arrangement of the affairs of men when the President of our great United States gets only $50,000 (usually considered a large sum) for a whole year's work, while the negro slugger Jack Johnson is to receive almost three times that amount for a year's occasional "punching" through Australia.

The Sentinel is the name of a new daily paper that has just been established at Mayfield, Ky., by Mr.
N. P. Honny, of Corinth, Miss. It is apparent from the first issues that Mr. Honny is an experienced newspaper man who will give the public his best efforts in his new field of labor. The Sentinel is a good paper and deserves success.

On the second page of The Herald to-day will be found the Democratic State Platform complete, including the substitute liquor plank which Mr. Watterson fought for so hard but which was defeated.
The Platform is one of the most comprehensive and explicit ever enunciated by great political party and is worthy the support of every patriotic citizen. It deals with the leading questions of the day in a most emphatic manner—no equivocation or evasion. It is simply a symposium of good government. Read it all.

In his opening speech at Elizabethtown Judge O'Rear, said:
"Take them over Kentucky, and there are more than 70,000 men who will sell their suffrage in the market." This is a bold and a scandalous charge to be brought against the voters of Kentucky. We do not believe it is true, and we believe the honest yeomanry of the State, regardless of political affiliation, will resent the charge at the polls in November. This sweeping charge against all voters alike is unworthy the man who is an aspirant for the highest office within the gift of the people of the State.

One of the most masterful articles on the political situation of the day that has lately appeared in any Kentucky paper is found on the third page of The Herald to-day, by our Rockport correspondent. It is especially pertinent as regards the liquor question. Although differing somewhat from The Herald's expressed views on the matter, the facts are so plainly stated and the review is so conclusive in its general summing up, that it presents a most attractive and convincing argument. This able dissertation is well worthy the perusal of every patriotic citizen.

The Hartford Republican be-wails the fact that nothing is said in the Democratic State Platform about the questionable deal by which Senator Bradley was elected to the seat which he now holds.
What was the use? Hasn't this infamous and notorious episode been given enough publicity already to brand Judge O'Rear (who declared it devoid of stain) as an apparent demagogue. In this instance anyhow? We are thinking, however, that the Republican leaders will hear enough of this disgraceful incident before the campaign closes.

Referring to the opposition within his own party for nomination, Judge O'Rear said in his opening
speech at Elizabethtown:

"The postmasters, with two or three exceptions, in the First and Second Districts, where they were also County Chairmen (a bad policy, as well as unlawful) were solidly against me."

This "bad policy, as well as unlawful," is exemplified right here in Ohio county, where five post masters are also committeemen in their respective precincts. Judge O'Rear was right in his just condemnation of a too common pernicious political practice.

In the concluding paragraph of the Democratic State Platform will be found a significant utterance referring to the fact that "the Republican party everywhere (and especially in Kentucky) is professing to adopt Democratic principles in its platforms, not with a view to carrying them out or to attempt to carry them out in good faith, in the improbable event of their success at the polls next November, but for the present purpose of catching votes and deceiving the people, so that they might get the offices and the emoluments thereof." This is a true and a timely warning, and the wise voter will take heed accordingly.

Judge O'Rear said in his opening
speech at Elizabethtown:

"I don't know much about Hardin county, but I would not be surprised if in Hardin country there are six or seven hundred men who habitually sell their votes every election, if there is anybody to buy them."

The official vote in Hardin county last year was: Ben Johnson, 1,869; D. W. Gaddle, 982; E. G.
Austin, 32. In these days almost every voter is aligned with some political party. There are few known "floaters," or men known to be for sale. In which party in Hardin county belong the six or seven hundred bought votes out of a total of 2,883? Would the Appellate Judge care to explain?

HARDISON NOMINATED FOR THE STATE SENATE

In Seventh District, at Convention Held in Louisville Last Week.

Pursuant to a call of the Executive Committee the delegates to the Seventh Senatorial District Convention met at the Old Inn, Louisville, Ky., on the 15th day of August, 1911, and were called to order by G. B. Likens, chairman of said District Committee. Said Likens was elected to preside over the convention and E. A. Taylor, of Greenville, Ky., was elected secretary.

The following resolution nominating Robert Hardison, Jr., of Greenville, as Democratic candidate for State Senator in said district, was adopted:

We, the representatives of the Democratic party of the Seventh Senatorial District of Kentucky, assembled in a regularly called delegated convention to nominate a candidate for State Senator from said district, resolve as follows:

1st. We approve the call for this convention and believe that the interests of the people of said district require that a nomination for said office shall be made by us.

2d. We endorse and adopt as our views upon party questions the Platform and declaration of principles this day made by the Democratic State Convention, and our nominee, if elected, will support all measures set forth in said Platform and will endeavor to have them written into the statute law of the State.

3d. In a representative government the question of supreme importance in the election of a public official is his ability to discharge the duties of the office to which he is elected, and this question of competency of the public official overshadows in importance all partisan questions upon which political parties divide. The larger part of the measures that come before the General Assembly for its consideration are of a non-partisan character. The business interests of the Seventh Senatorial District are extensive and diversified and the legislation needed by the people of the district is essentially non-partisan, and such as demands a competent representative in the State Senate. We nominate Robert Hardison, Jr. for the State Senator from said District, and present him to the voters of the District as a suitable person to discharge the duties of the office.

WEALTHY MAN CHARGED WITH STEALING CHICKENS

Evansville, Ind., Aug. 17.—Frank Guenther, vice president of the Ban-

DEATH OF A NOTABLE CITIZEN AND PREACHER

After a lingering illness of dropsy and other diseases peculiar to old age, Rev. G. J. Bean passed away at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. J. H. B. Carson, in Hartford, last Thursday evening. For about five years he had been an invalid and his remarkable vitality was all that bore him up during the closing days of his illness.

Bro. Bean was a notable man in many ways. His strong personality and upright life drew to him people of all natures and classes, and none knew him but to admire and respect him. He was of a sunny disposition, always genial and companionable. For many years he was a preacher of the gospel and perhaps had performed more marriage ceremonies and officiated at more funerals than any man in this section. He was liberal in all that he did. As a preacher he accepted whatever remuneration might be tendered him, and if it was meager, that made no difference in his zealous work nor did he seem to notice it. He believed in the theory that the gospel is free, and his services were evidence of it. If a couple wanted to get married, Bro. Bean was always ready to officiate, and if the bridegroom saw fit to reward him it was all right. If not all right again, he always gave to the limit of his finances in charitable and religious matters.

Bro. Bean was a zealous Mason, but he thought most of the great Lodge Above, into whose membership he was initiated in early life and whose ritual he carried in his heart and exemplified in his daily life. He is now gone to take up his perpetual abode with the membership of the sainted spirits. He leaves behind a pleasant memory—an honorable record. He was known simply as Brother Bean—brother in love, respect and friendship—whether uttered by grown persons or the illspring tongues of children.

Bro. Bean was born on September 6, 1823, therefore was nearly 88 years of age. On October 17, 1844, he was married to Mary J. Acton and to this union there were born eight children as follows: Mrs. Martha Ross, Mrs. Josie Duke, Mrs. J. H. B. Carson, H. B. Bean, Marvin Bean and T. H. Bean. Nov. 21, 1897, he was married to Sarah Francis Hocker, who died several years ago. To this union was born one son, S. M. Bean. All of the children survive him. He also leaves one brother, Noble Bean, of Sulphur Springs, and 22 grandchildren and 29 great-grandchildren.

His funeral occurred at the Christian (formerly the Methodist) church Friday morning and the house was packed with sorrowing relatives and friends. Services were conducted by Revs. Virgil Elgin and R. D. Bennett, of the Methodist church, which denomination he began serving as a preacher in the year 1861. The Masons had charge of his remains and interment was at Oakwood, our local cemetery.

A noble, consecrated life has ended and a pure spirit has gone to be with the Master it loved and served so well.

HUMAN HANDS
AND THE PRESS*A Vast Array of Workers Ever Busy*FURNISHING READING MATTER*The Various Emotions and Acts of Human Kind
Make the Record.*A STUPENDOUS UNDERTAKING

The August American Magazine contains an interesting editorial talk in "The Interpreter's House" on the newspaper. In closing the talk the editor says:

"I ask the reader to see in his imagination what a multitude of human beings are busy with the printing press. There are in the United States 25,000 or 30,000 regularly issued publications, in which tens and tens of thousands of people write from time to time, little or much. One of our great metropolitan dailies recently boasted that 1,500 people were more or less regular contributors to its columns, counting its great staff and its correspondents scattered all over the world. As many people write for that newspaper, therefore, as read some of our small country weeklies. In other words, the printing press is the least monopolized of any invention. It is completely in the hands of the people. It is one of the most imposing democratic institutions in the world—one of the most completely democratic. That is its great strength."

"Now, what's the meaning of all this? It simply means that through the printing press you transfer to paper an astonishing picture of all the varied emotions and characteristics of all human nature. Confine yourself for a moment to the 1,500 people who write for that great daily referred to above. Imagine them segregated into a community. What an assortment! In their midst would be love, hate, loyalty, jealousy, spite, cruelty, gentleness, courage, generosity—and all the other attractive and unattractive qualities found among human beings."

Take the one point of differences of taste and refinement to be found among them. Some of them would shudder at the thought of mentioning in connection with a wedding the fact that the bride's first husband killed himself three years before. Others of them would not think much about it. Even the bride, remember, might not feel as badly as you do about it. It is amazing how differently people look at things. In all candor, I must say that I have published things which I was afraid would displease, only to discover later that they pleased people. A short time ago I published the picture of a man with a caption under it which held the man slantly to account for certain public acts. The only recognition I got from the family was a polite note from the man's wife saying that they liked the photograph, and could they get one?

"Now, is it discouraging to take this view? Not in the least. That is my unequivocal answer. On the contrary, the prospect seems to me most encouraging because the problem of how to produce a better press is so clearly defined. We shall have a better press when we have better men, and God be praised, we already have frequent illustrations of a good, courageous press in the numerous cases where decent and sympathetic men are at work in the profession. Human beings have the power in their own hands to better themselves, and in thousands and thousands of cases they have the inclination to exercise that power, and they are actually exercising every day."

MEN WHO CRY ON THE STREET—THE REASON WHY

"I was standing on the street corner to-day waiting for a car," said a caller at the Deaconess Home in Chicago, "and I saw a man walking along with bowed head, crying: No, he had not been drinking. He looked like a respectable working man of middle age. I wanted to speak to him, but—I didn't. What do you suppose was the matter?"

The deaconess whom he was addressing said nothing; but she knew why some "respectable middle-aged men" walk the city streets crying. Visions rose before her: A man who had just visited his boy, in jail for stealing—a man who had been hunting work for three weeks and "lost out" every time, till the dearly loved wife and baby at home were literally starving—a man who had just had a flashlight of his own degradation and was comparing it with the innocence of the clean-hearted lad that used to cuddle into his mother's lap. The men go weeping along the streets sometimes; but oftener far, they go too dead at heart to weep.—[Christian Herald.]

THE EDITOR'S PRAYER.

Give me, dear Lord, the sweet philosophy
That will enable me, with friendly eye,

To view the things that have no joys for me;

The ways of other men that pass me by;

I would not frown at folly, soldi-emn-wise,

And be content shrewdly to criticise.

Give me the wide philosophy that finds in each poor jest and antic, something good;

Show me the tie that me to others binds,

That makes men lovable, when understood.

Too long I've had the narrower wish to be

Clad in the garb of cold austerity.

Give me a faith, just for each common day.

Not in vain things beyond my ken and care;

Let me believe that down life's darkest way

The prime and dust hide something good and fair.

Let me find something in each sordid scene

Of hidden good that is, or might have been."

WHEN MAN GROWS OLD—A LITTLE PHILOSOPHY

It is a law as old as the first man, that when "old age comes over him," or begins to set its seal on his mental make-up, that the man turns to the soil for rest and recreation. He wants to make something grow; he wants to smell the earth; he wants to do something that encourages pleasant thoughts of long ago. This, too, whether he has pushed the pen, followed the sea or jockeyed with the professions for a living. He wants to work in the garden; trim trees or do something like that for exercise and recreation; he wants to encourage procreation in all earthly things. Maybe it is the opening strain of the benediction, to the solemn measure of which he goes to his long home. Working the soil and the increase thereof is the purest calling known to man; maybe it is instinct of the highest and purest which turns his waning activities southwards. It is the inborn desire to do better that prompted some old sport to write of two contrite old men:

"King David and King Solomon Lived merry, merry lives;
And they had many, many lady friends
And many, many wives.

But when old age comes over them,
With many, many quaints,
King Solomon wrote the Proverbs;
King David wrote the Psalms."

BIDS ARE ASKED FOR A BIG DAM*To Be Built Across Ohio
Near Henderson.*TO BE OPENED SEPTEMBER 7*In Louisville—First of Series Between Louisville and Lower River.*ESTIMATED COST IS $1,840,000

Evansville, Ind., Aug. 18.—Bids for the construction of lock and dam No. 48, in the Ohio river, 18 miles below Evansville, are being advertised for by the war department of the United States. The completion of this costly structure will give this city a nine-foot river stage the year around. With a clear title to the property constituting the site of the proposed dam, Major Lyle Brown, of Louisville, has informed local people interested of the intention to open bids in his office September 7.

The dam is to be 2,310 feet long and the lock, which will be on the Indiana side of the stream and will consist of a single chamber, is to be 110 feet wide and 600 feet long. The estimated cost is $1,840,000.

The Henderson dam will be the first of the series to be constructed between Louisville and the lower river, and in cost and importance, it will rank second only to the dam and locks at Louisville. The pool made by the new dam will have a surface elevation of nearly 335 feet above the sea level or about nine feet higher than that of the lower pool at that point. Four or five years will be required to complete the dam, locks and buildings.

Construction of the dams and locks was provided for by the last Congress which made a cash appropriation of $350,000 and authorized an expenditure of $900,000 additional under the continuing contract system.

The dam provides a nine-foot slack water harbor for both Henderson and Evansville and will put eight feet of water on the lower sill of lock No. 1 in Green river the year around. It will back-water a distance of 36 miles and insure easy navigation over a number of bars that now impede the movement of vessels during the summer.

The Henderson dam is to be one of a series of dams in the Ohio river recommended by the engineering corps of the War department with a view to creating a nine-foot stage from Pittsburgh to Cairo. The entire system comprises 54 dams and contemplated an expenditure of $63,731,488. The first six dams near Pittsburgh have been completed. Dam No. 7 is being constructed. Dam No. 8 near East Liverpool, O., 46 miles below Pittsburgh, has been completed. Five other locks and dams between that point and Louisville have been completed.

ALL GRADUATES SECURED
EXCELLENT POSITIONS

The Lexington Leader says: The graduates of the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering of the State University of Kentucky, class of 1911, have all secured good positions and most of them will enter immediately after commencement upon the duties of these places. A graduate of this department of State University can feel perfectly certain that when he has completed his course of study, with the approval of the University, there is an opportunity immediately awaiting him for remunerative practice of his profession.

The great engineering concerns of the country have learned to regard State University of Kentucky as one of the most efficient technical schools of the country. Nearly all of the members of this year's class were selected by representatives of various engineering and manufacturing concerns who came to State University for the express purpose of procuring efficient engineering service.

The industrial works of this country have long come to the conclusion that in order to enjoy the greatest development they must fill their engineering corps with competent young men who have the foundation of a thorough technical education.

OIL FEVER RAMPANT
IN HANCOCK COUNTY

The oil fever is sweeping Hancock county as never before, says the Haweleville Clarion. Three companies are busily engaged in taking leases of lands practically in all parts of the county. James H. Snowden, who married Miss Marian Adair, of this city, two years ago, and who has many wells in the Illinois oil region, with 30 wells on a single farm of 160 acres, is in the lead so far, with 85 leases taken, and his agents, Messrs. W. C. Kelly and Pope McAdams, are still at work. Next in importance is J. M. McCoach of Huntington, W. Va., who is representing the McGuire syndicate, and he has already taken 30 leases. The other lessor is D. L. Wilson of this city, who has taken 27. In each lease there is an obligation requiring the lessor to drill within a year or forfeit the lease, and it is said that at least the first named two will begin work at once. In fact, the drilling machinery of Mr. McCoach has already been shipped to Haweleville.

Six years ago a well was sunk here in the suburbs of the town, and oil flowed freely, but the well was closed, and few, if any, know why. In addition to the above, it is said that Mr. Hennen Jennings, a former Haweleville man, but for many years with a gold syndicate in South Africa, has made arrangements to drill on his large tract of land above town.

A Scientific Question.

"Nothing is ever totally lost or destroyed," said the professor of physics.

"In that case," said the simple and frank person, "how do you explain the fact that everybody loses umbrellas and you never meet anybody who has found one."

THE FORTUNATE ISLES.

You sail and seek for the Fortunate Isles,

The old Greek isles of the yellow-bird's song?

Then steer straight on through the watery miles,

Straight on, straight on, and you can't go wrong.

Nay, not to the left; nay, not to the right,

But on, straight on, and the Isles are in sight,

The Fortunate Isles where the yellow birds sing,

And life lies girt with a golden ring.

These Fortunate Isles they are not so far,

They lie within reach of the lowliest door;

You can see them gleam by the twilight star;

You can hear them sing by the moon's white shore—

Nay, never look back! These leveled grave stones

They were island steps; they were steps unto thrones

Of glory for souls that have sailed before,

And have set white feet on the fortunate shore.

And what are the names of the Fortunate Isles?

Why, Duty and Love and a large content.

Lo! these are the Isles of the watery miles,

That God let down from the firmament.

Lo, Duty and Love, and a true man's Trust;

Your forehead to God, though your feet in the dust;

Lo, Duty and Love, and a sweet face's smiles,

And these, O friend, are the Fortunate Isles.

SOME MEN NOT CONSULTED

(By Clyde H. Tavenner, Special Washington Correspondent of The Herald.)

Washington, Aug. 19.—When the history of Mr. Taft's administration is written, his failure to win the sympathy of the people will no doubt be attributed to his selection as advisers, men who are not in sympathy with the needs of the people of the country.

Let us see who the men are, surrounding President Taft, who know exactly what "they" want; and who, through having practically a monopoly of the President's ear, have been able to deceive him into the belief that he is acting the part of a real statesman if he vetoes legislation of the very character that he promised the people before election in order to secure their votes.

In his cabinet Mr. Taft has Secretary of State Knox, former steel trust attorney; Attorney General Wickersham, former sugar trust attorney, and Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagle, former attorney for the Waters-Pierce (Standard) Oil Company.

Then in his immediate family circle the President has Brother Charles Taft, who is so constituted temperamentally and financially that he can view legislation only from the viewpoint that "Big Business" views it; and also Brother Henry W. Taft, a member of the New York law firm of Strong & Cadwalader, which represents the sugar trust, Wall Street and the great industrial corporations.

For substantiation of any advice the President may receive from these sources, he has but to call in Senator Lippitt, Aldrich's successor from Rhode Island. Mr. Lippitt is one of the millionaire beneficiaries of the struggling cotton trust, and knows exactly what he wants. Others who know what they want and upon whom the President relies are Pearson, Smoot, Guggenheim, DuPont and the balance of the ring of special privilege servers in the Senate.

And here is a list of the men whose advise is not sought by Mr. Taft: LaFollette, Clapp, Cummins, Bristow and all genuine progressive Republicans.

These facts tell their own story. There's no chance for the President to do anything for the people so long as he has present advisers around, and from present indications he has no intention of taking on a new set of advisers.

TRENTON PATRIOTISM BEGINS RIGHT AT HOME

"Why should I support my own town?" is a question every one should put to himself and honestly consider. The result would be beneficial both to the individual and the town. Here are a few of the many reasons he would be sure to find:

The town is his home and a man's first duty is to his communal home as well as to his domestic home. Again, local patriotism demands it. Love for and pride in one's town is the duty as it should ever be the joy of every citizen, and that patriotism should find constant expression in furthering its interests. His town affords him the

A FACT ABOUT THE "BLUES"

What is known as the "Blues" is seldom occasioned by actual existing external conditions, but in the great majority of cases by a disordered LIVER.

THIS IS A FACT which may be demonstrated by trying a course of protection of its government and its laws and guards his property against fire and other losses.

A man should trade in his home town. Its business men are courteous, willing and progressive, their stock of goods is large and varied, and if there is something one wants which they do not carry, they are always ready to procure it. Unlike catalogue houses, the home merchants help to pay taxes of a town, they contribute to churches, improvements and entertainments. Without the business men, the town would stagnate and property decrease in value.

The schools of a town provide ample and satisfactory education for one's children, and its churches meet and satisfy his religious needs and conserve the moral and spiritual interests of the community.

Its newspapers keep him informed on local matters, enlarge his knowledge, help him in business, minister to his enjoyment and that of his family, and promote every wise effort put forth to help the best interests of the town.

Invents New Cement. Lexington, Ky., Aug. 19.—A. Himes, the Lexington caterer, has invented a cement that promises to play a part in the building trade of the future. In its hardened condition it is smooth as marble and so hard as to successfully resist blows with a heavy hammer. Friends of the inventor say the material is likely to be widely used in decorative art, as well as in building. During the winter he will experiment with the material with a view to making it resist changes in the weather.

Hay Fever, Asthma and Summer Colds

Must be relieved quickly and Foley's Honey and Tar Compound will do it. E. M. Stewart, 1034 Wolfram St., Chicago, writes: "I have been greatly troubled during the hot summer months with hay fever and find that by using Foley's Honey and Tar Compound I get great relief." Many others who suffer similarly will be glad to benefit by Mr. Stewart's experience. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is effective for coughs and colds in either children or grown persons. No opiates, no harmful drugs. In a yellow package. Refuse substitutes. Sold by all druggists.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surface. Such articles should never be used except on the good you can possibly claim, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surface of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

EDUCATION BEGAN IN EDEN

In these days of many needless complications of the problem of living, that was already sufficiently complex without the addition of man-made embarrassments, it is interesting to try to imagine what the new and unspoiled earth was like in the eyes of our first famous progenitors, and to speculate as to their probable mental attitude toward this world that "was all before them where to choose." It is a question whether the positive or the negative blessings of the pair that wandered hand in hand through Eden's bowers were the better reasons for continued thankfulness. Their minds were unvexed by the multifold tumult of a thousand seething agitations that twentieth century men and women think they must worry see?
